LACK OF BUYING POWER CONSPICUOUS FEATURE

in Prices in Wheat Market

During Day.

CHICAGO, September 22.—Lack of buying power was the conspicuous feature in the wheat market here to-day, and was largely responsible for the sharp decline in prices. It is evident that the outsider has little confidence in the market at the present time and is waiting for some marked development before plunging further on the buying side. That new buying power is necessary to materially advance incles is generally conceded, as the local trade seems loath to take hold, and bearish sentiment will prevail as long as the allied forces in Europe gain ground. The recent severe break in prices is still fresh in the mind of the public, and by so vividly illustrating the insecurity of a war market, however strongly backed up by bullish theories, has instilled a liberal supply of caution.

There was persistent selling of wheat fatures by a prominent local clevator concern. As stated above, the absorbing power was limited, and the wheat thrown on the market was digested with difficulty, creating a heavy tone all through the day. Resting spots were fact, there was considerable export and corn so conspicuously. Closing figures were 5-8q3-4 lower than previous resting spots. There was a good export inquiry for cash oats, with sales of 400,000 hushels reported here and about as much more at the seaboard. No enthusiasm was shown on the buying side, and the bulk of the support came from cash houses, probably in the way of tilking off hedges.
